Helm publishes manufacturer-written paper manuals for Acura, Ford, all GM brands, Honda, Isuzu, Jaguar, Lincoln, Lexus, Mercury, Toyota and Scion — for a fee. You can purchase paper manuals for Audi and VW at the links above. And if a used owner's manual is OK with you, or you're after the manual for an obscure model, eBay is always worth a shot. If you change your battery, or it dies for some reason, the radio on your Honda Accord will prompt you to enter a code. Usually, this can be resolved by holding the radio power button for a few seconds until the radio starts—no code necessary. If this doesn't work a code will need to be entered. You should be able to find it on a sticker with the radio serial number.

To get the code online, you'll need to enter your zip code, phone number, email address, VIN number located on the driver's side of your car behind the windshield, and serial number. Enter the code using the radio preset buttons. So, if your Honda Accord audio system code is "33351," you would press "3" three times, "5" once, and "1" once. This should unlock and reset your car's audio system. Our service center is here to help with everything from radio codes, to learning your Accord maintenance schedule, to removing car mold, and checking your coolant level. You can even find other help features like our Honda Accord vs. Toyota Camry comparison. Schedule an appointment at the Walla Walla Valley Honda service center for additional help. We can even check your tire treads while you're in for service. Please upgrade your browser to improve your experience.
