Used only in this episode. Dropping is the sixth episode on the fourth season of the Powerpuff girls. It aired on July 12, 2002. Plot The Old College College Commate, Dick Hardly. Páva for a visit. When he gets his first look at the girls, he comes up with an idea of creating his own and selling them as a security system to make money. Pau before and after your monster transformation. Some of the 'Powerfuff Girls with Chemiple X-Treme' being made. Flower, bubbles and buttercup, as they appear in this episode. Synopsis The teacher receives a phone call from his old friend, Dick Evil, who tells him he's coming for a visit. Soon, Professor Utonium begins to remember his wicked interaction at the university that they both attended (where Dick secretly betrayed his work and loosened when he was not looking). Dick soon comes and gets a walk around the house. After Dick gets his first look at the girls, he cares for them and believes that they could make a fortune when he began to discuss the ways to make money from them. Feeling offended by the proposal, the anger teacher orders Dick to leave. Dick then thinks on another plan. Later that day, the girls are about to return home from school when Dick's car stopped in the garage, and he offers a ride home. While driving, Dick explains how evil is always occurring all over the world. Later, Dick mentions the possibility of several Powerpuff girls who would fight crime in several places outside the town of Townsville. Later he asks girls what they are made. Girls respond quickly: "Act, spice and all Nice, and an accidental dose of chemical products X." Arriving at his house, he asks the girls of a bottle of chemical products X. They close the teacher's laborator and back, giving him the bottle. Now anxious, Dick runs in an abandoned factory, which he now owns, and uses all the ingredients that the girls told him earlier to make his own creation - the Powerpuff girls with chemical X-trembles which are really eliminated from the originals). The next day, Dick shows his creations for New York mayor. Sometimes later, the creations hurried a giant jacing monster (which has a noticeable similar to Gator Wally) for security while on the way to work. This filming is transmitted publicly, and the utA'NIO family is watching. The teacher acts a bit suspicious for the real girls, thinking they went to New York and asked when they were. The girls lie to him, saying they were there before. While in bed, girls feel guilty about lying to him, but they believe everything will end well. In the following weeks, Dick's factory begins to expand, he was now making girls more eliminated, and sold them all over the world, such as Japan, France, India, Germany and Egypt. However, although the powerfuff eliminated looked a lot with the original girls, Dick began to reduce the ingredients and intentionally allow them to have quality so they could deteriorate so he could make more money, and even created Disfigured versions of the knock-offs he rejected. Meanwhile, Professor Utonium is beginning to act more and more suspiciously. Eventually, the confidence of the girls on dick disappears quickly after watching an infomercial with him advertising "Powerpuff Girls with Chemical Xtreme", in which he also learns that Dick sold his PowerFuff girls to no one for a Profit, even criminals. Now knowing that Dick lied to them, the girls fly to his factory, confront him and ask for chemistry X who gave him, back. But instead of returning to them, he swallows the whole psychote (bottle and all). Suddenly, the effects of the chemical product X He swallowed The stick in a horrible monster. The girls beat stick, but they are not fulsors for him and he dominates them. Stick then captures the girls inside a glass culpule and begins to extract the chemical X chemical product from their bodies so he can continue to do more Meanwhile, the teacher, whose suspicions lead him to realize Dick was behind all this, runs all the way to his factory. Utonium runs to the factory and discovers everything after he witnesses the deformed rejects, the girls being tortured by draining his monstrous form of X, Dick. Utonium osca dick to stop and is willingly to take the place of the girls so he could make more chemical product, but Dick refuses and decides to have girls and utA'NIO, and orders all rejected Take the teacher. As they do so, the Utonium teacher expresses his fort and deep paternal love in relation to real girls. This triggers the minds of rejected girls to know that Dick never gave them love or care. The rejects turn against him, cling to the body and sacrificed to consume dick in hell. However, some of the rejects that survived the release of the girls, now killed to be completely drained from his chemical product, and convince the teacher to take his family and escape before it is too late. He does this, and now far from how the teacher cries on the loss of girls, the floating hearts at the end of each episode appear in the background, already that his love revives them quickly. The burning factory, it is harmful about the loss of your girls. Fortunately, his love quickly revives them and the teacher, now happy, tells the girls: "Old Pau may have obtained the right brother, but the only ingredient. He forgot, was love." As girls and utA'na are, Dick hardly screams in agony a last time his factory continues to burn, and the narrator says: "Guess how the love you take is equal to the love that you do .". CHARACTES MAIN PAPÁ © is Minor Trimia The title is a piece in the word "knock-off", which means a cheaper and / or poorly built version of something, like what Dick was doing with Your Powerpuff girls. This is the fourth episode to have a character die on the show, which is stick. The first being the boys of Rowdyruff in the synonymous episode of the same name (but later they are revived), being the second being the brains in "Beat your greens", and the third be a rabbit in "twisted sister". The instructions for Townsville that Professor Utonium gives the dick in the opening refer to the real highways of the city of Los Angeles. If we apply the teacher's description for real life, Townsville would be located in Pasadena, which is where the 210 (almost) junctions with the port freeway (AKA Highway 110), approximately 15 miles east From 101. It is not clear as the girls and professor Utonium found Dick's hiding place. This was the only episode where someone destroys the girls of the Powerpuff taking their energy of chemical x, but it is brought back to life for the deep paternal love of the teacher. In a wooden scene overlooking your rejects, look closely and you can see that one of them has a similar as a similarity with Dynamo. It is possible that Townsville is in California, because according to the licensing plate in Dick's car, is California and the license plate also says the car was done in June 2001. It also says Prof-Dik on the plate. The villain in India, named Raja Jaja, is a human and Indian version of Mojo Jojo. The teacher says, "Well, old dick may have achieved the right brother, but the only ingredient he forgot was love." It should be noted that the uniquely ingredients known to make the girls were to play, spices, all good and chemical X. Although it can be assumed that the teacher is simply being a poetic, since one of the ingredients is all Cool, could be said that love is the coolest of all that is legal. The statement of Professor Utonium of his love in relation to girls is similar to a scene in the last episode of Samurai Jack, where Jack declares his love toward Ashi. The address for the residence of Utonium is revealed to be 1440. After the teacher the girls if they were really in India, flower responded with the phrase, phrase, TOV "This is strangely inaccurate, as the phrase is in Hebrew, which is the native language of Israel, not in India (whose native language is sancrito). Msmojo rated this as the darkest episode Powerpuff Girls. It's a theory that Dick is with the Dexter's Dexter DeXter father. The two support a similar appearance and both are expressed by Jeff Bennett. Dick is hardly similar to scar. From Disney's Lion King as: Both are the main antagonists (Dick in this episode. Scar in the film) Both are greedy and eroic, both want power and respect; the scene where Dick dies is parallel scene where the scar dies. The two villains turned against them and were attacked until death by them as the infels swallowed the whole scene. Cultural references The episode could be seen as an alluse for the clone saga, a plot of the Spider-Man who ran from 1994 to 1996, and represented an armada of clones created by the coyote supervilion, including the scarlet spider, Kaïne and Spidercide. When the rejected call Dick, a toothed bubbles says "Just a Master of Evil, Dick", a line reference: "Just a Master of Mal, Darth" during the confrontation between Obi-Wan Kenobi and Darth Vader in the star of death in Star Wars. The National Public Radio (NPR) is referenced in this episode, becoming the only time a real radio brand was mentioned in the Series. Robots are remorse watching when looking at the scenario when the PowerPuff Girls Xtreme saved Japan resembled (from left to right) Mazinger Z, Ultraman and Getter Robo. The last line of the narrator in this episode, that the love that you take is equal to the love that you do, is referring to the music "the end" by the Beatles. Continuity This is the third time that the girls arrive close to dying, the first was in "Rowdyruff Boys", the second was in "Mojo Jonesia". In the first and third time, they are revived by the power of love. The second time, they are revived by some friends, who used their last piece of chemical X products, which they had previously received by a Mojo disguised Jojo, to do so. The part where Buttercup says "I think they're asking for a whoppin heno!" It is reused "rowdyruff boys". The production observes a giant Gator about to crush the World Trade Center. Although this episode would debate in 2002, it was produced in 2001 according to the credits. It is suggested that this episode was produced in June 2001, because the teacher's plate was labeled with a date of June 2001. This episode finished production before September 11, 2001, as a scene presented the World Trade Center and its brand-wide branded towers in fully intact. In this scene, a giant version of Gator Wally trips and almost falls to the World Trade Center before the Knock-off versions of the PowerPuff girls. At the time this episode was displayed on July 12, 2002, this scene was never edited or cut. As it must have been less enough for people to lose, making an accidental reference to 9/11. This episode was the 45th episode done, but was displayed as 49. Therefore, some digitally faced episode were displayed before this episode did. Although this episode was produced in 2001, this was the last episode of the series of traditional series and the last to use the model for the January 1999 version of the animated episode of 1998-2001 another. The future episode of this series would use exclusively digital ink or ink or computerized cafés. After this episode ended the production, the outline produced what happened to Roba' Jones?. His sion final TV to be done with Cel Animation, which was the left between 2002 and 2003. At the end of 2003, the work management decided that the audiences wanted only television programs. Produced using digital ink and paint and closed its traditional department of Cel. Cel animation desks and epps of episode were removed or sold and the specific resplet of animation animation Along with an episode another production, girls cel (in smaller size and in its normal poses) created exclusively for this episode was dismantled and discarded. The episode reused another Cels production (complete with November 1998, January 1999, and explosion of April 2000 explosion and in November 1998 and January 1999 girls' cells in their poses Normal (in large sizes and normal poses) were then reused for colors corrected versions of 1998-2001 episode that were produced using computers and cellular animation in an animation estruzio no American trull between the end of 2003 and beginning of 2006. This episode is also last to use the February 2001 variant of 1998-2001 3D star explosion and the January 1999 variant of the shower gold star 1998-2001. In addition, in the excited other for this episode, when girls appear, they are more expanded than usual. In the air order, this is the last episode to use the Hanna-Barbera logo before William Hanna's death in 2001. This was the first episode the Voice Actress of Creeps Those of criteria as a strong tare since she married her strong Craig husband in 2000. Errors when this lisode first air in the cartoon network, the episode incorrectly had a 2000 copyright date at the end. Later, Ruffs corrected this to 2001. 2001.
