In Diamond & Pearl, several Pokémon evolve into their gendered evolutions. For example, Combee only evolves into Vespiques when she's female, and considering Combees are 87.5% male, that's quite an achievement. Below are the Pokémon that evolve and the method by which they evolve: Improved Wild-Hold Items Each species can now hold at least one item in the wild. Any species that has a Mega Evolution in their lineage can keep their Mega Stone in the wild. Wimpod, Alolan Meowth, and a few other species are known to hold caps and goldcaps! Pokémon that evolve using a wearable item have a chance to keep that item in the wild. Pokémon that require a special incense to produce specific offspring have a chance to keep that incense in the wild. Here is a list of all species and what items they can have in the wild. The 10 fossils available in Gen VII are now possessed by wild Pokémon 50% of the time. Some other Pokemon also have the ability to hold fossils. Root Fossil Details: Bounsweet, Steenee, Tsareena Sail Fossil: Basculin Skull Fossil: Vullaby, Mandibuzz, Rufflet, Braviary The remaining fossil is now maintained by the Oddish lineage, which only appears in the enhanced version.
