PREPOSITION REVIEW

E. Directions: Cross out any prepositional phrase(s). Underline the subject once and the verb/verb phrase twice. Saved sentences contain helping verbs.

COMPOUND SUBJECTS: The subject tells who or what the sentence is about. Sometimes there are two or more subjects in a sentence. This is called a compound subject.

Example: A boy and his friend played in the woods.

1. A mother and her child shopped at a drugstore.

2. Miss Cobb and Mrs. Lunder are in the tennis tournament.

3. Larry and I go to the park every day.

4. *Forests and lakes are located throughout that region.

5. *A lemon or orange is needed for this drink.

6. *After the bridge game, pie, cake, and ice cream were served.

7. During the evening, a deer and her fawn walked through the meadow.

F. Directions: Cross out any prepositional phrase(s). Underline the subject once and the verb/verb phrase twice. Saved sentences contain helping verbs.

COMPOUND VERBS: A verb tells what is was or what happens happened. Sometimes more than one verb appears in a sentence. This is called a compound verb.

Example: You must sit and read for a few minutes.

1. Pat hit the ball into right field and ran for first base.

2. In the morning, I comb my hair and brush my teeth.

3. Mark's frog jumped onto a rock and croaked.

4. Before the play, the energetic actors learned lines and practiced.

5. *Does the new boy travel by bus and arrive at school early?

6. Mr. London takes his lunch to the office and eats across the street.

7. *Rings and bracelets were cleaned and placed into a special case.
