We all suck at the age of empires, or we did it at some point. The good news is that you can get decent enough fast. Age of Empires is a game full of small things that make a big difference. This guide is not intended to be complete, but aims to act as a foundation to begin. Improve your game build more villagers. You're not building enough villagers. Your center should always do something. If you are not advancing at the next age, it should be making more villagers. As a rule of thumb, your final goal is to have about half the total limit of the population to be villagers. More villagers mean that you can build more military units and can continue to build longer. Run. Your scout should always work. Like your Town Center, your scout should always do something. Calm him down. Explore expanding circles around your base until you have found your resources. After that, your scout should gatheron the map and actions of your enemy. Boars. Learn how to attract wild boars. The wild boars are 340 of the fastest collecting food in the game. Once you learn how to attract boar, you'll be miles ahead of where you were. Hotkeys. Learn and use shortcut keys. Build Orders. Learn construction orders. Building orders are the basis of this game. The age of empires really has only one resource. Time. The player who makes the best use of time will win the game. The nerds have been playing this game for about 20 years. This means that people have had a lot of time to figure out the most efficient way to do things. Basic order to start: Fast Castle Scout Rush Archer Flush These will give you a good place to start. They are not the only ones you need to know, but they will take you on the right path. Registered games. Look at the replays of your games to see what you're wrong, Registered games are a great way to learn. The option to record games is by default. There's no reason to turn it off. The files are small and has no impact on the game. You will be engaged during the game, but after you can sit and go to your own pace. Show. Professional players broadcast their games and send them to YouTube. Jump into their flow and see what they're doing. If you have questions, ask in the chat. There should be someone who is friendly and helpful. You can find a list of professional streams and YouTube channels in the resource section below. This game is to have fun. Improve your skillsbe fun and satisfying. Just like my mother. resources (order is an arbitrary type) aoezone the largest and most active community site for the game. If it is happening in the age of empires, you will read it here. get the information, drama, registered games, tournament information, etc all in a practical point. build orders & tutorials mods age of empires ii castati games vooblyofficial — twitch + youtube — a community channel with tons of content and a variety of personality. t90official — twitch + youtube — professional and community games. memb — twitch + youtube — professional and community games.
