Incomplete and Codominance Worksheet

(Non-mendelian monohybrid crosses)

Name: _____
Period: _____
Date: _____

Answer the following questions. Provide a punnett square to support your answers where indicated. Express probabilities as percentages. For instance, a probability of one chance in ten would be 10%.

1. Explain the difference between incomplete dominance and codominance:
2. In some chickens, the gene for feather color is controlled by codominance. The allele for black is B and the allele for white is W. The heterozygous phenotype is known as erminette.
 - a. What is the genotype for black chickens? BB
 - b. What is the genotype for white chickens? WW
 - c. What is the genotype for erminette chickens? BW

Thank you for your participation! MLAB 2461 CLINICAL Immunohematology/Resolution of ABO discrepancies ABO discrepancies are recognized when the reactions obtained in the forward type do not "match" the reactions obtained in the reverse type. Failure to agglutinate the reagent A1 cells will cause additional investigation to be performed. False positive reactions may occur due to: AA-Avery protein coating of the red blood cells. AA-A1F an individual is group B they MUST have anti-A present in their serum or plasma. When evaluating an ABO discrepancy it needs to be determined whether there is a problem with the FORWARD type (antigens on cells), the REVERSE type (antibodies in serum/plasma) or BOTH. Problems With the Forward Type The forward type detects antigens present on the RED BLOOD CELLS. AA-Coating of cord blood cells with Wharton's jelly. AA-Antibodies to dyes used to color anti-A or anti-B problems with the Reverse Type FALSE NEGATIVE means the reactions should have been POSITIVE but no agglutination occurred. For example, AA-A forward type is group O and reverse type is group B. When a discrepancy is observed one MUST determine if the problem is associated with the forward type, reverse type or both. FALSE POSITIVE means the reaction should have been NEGATIVE but agglutination occurred. The key is to recognize which type of problem is occurring so that appropriate testing can be performed. False negative reactions in the forward type may occur due to: AA-A weak subgroups of A or B. AA-AA, B or AB individual transfused with massive quantities of group O blood. AA-ABO non-identical bone marrow or stem cell transplant. AA-Inhibitor substances which neutralize anti-A or anti-B.
