What day of the week do stocks go down

Do stocks go down on mondays. What day of the week is the worst for stocks. Do stocks go down over the weekend.

Human behavior is somehow predictable when you look at macro models, and the stock market demonstrates these behaviors and trends. There has been some research on what the best days and trading times are, but this information should never override due diligence. Just because these overall trends seem to be present, it means almost nothing when it comes to the behavior of individual actions. First, let's explore some of the basics and resources. Regardless of when you decide to buy or sell stocks, having reliable, up-to-date information is the key to success. Here are some of the best series websites, but there are many more. Æá↯
