

I'm not a robot

Part of Gameloft's Asphalt franchise, Asphalt 8 is one of race car games offering an extensive collection of over 300 licensed cars and motorcycles, delivering action-packed races across 75+ tracks. Immerse yourself in the thrilling world of high-speed racing as you jump into the driver's seat.Explore stunning scenarios and landscapes, ranging from the scorching Nevada Desert to the bustling streets of Tokyo. Compete against skilled racers, conquer exciting challenges, and engage in limited-time special racing events. Prepare your car for the ultimate test and unleash your drifting skills on the asphalt.Licensed luxury cars and motorcyclesLuxury cars and motorcycles take center stage in Asphalt 8, with an impressive selection of top-tier vehicles from renowned manufacturers like Lamborghini, Bugatti, Porsche, and more. Experience the power of over 300 high-performance cars and motorcycles, alongside a wide variety of racing motorcycles. Customize and design your race cars and motorcycles to stand out from the crowd. Collect special-edition cars, explore diverse worlds and scenarios, all while perfecting your drifting technique.Show your racing styleShowcase your unique racing style by unleashing your creativity and customizing your racer avatar. Mix and match clothes and accessories to craft a one-of-a-kind look that complements your car. Let your personality shine through as you dominate the racetrack. Get airborne with Asphalt 8! Prepare for exhilarating gravity-defying action in Asphalt 8. Take your race to the skies as you hit ramps and perform breathtaking barrel rolls and 360° jumps. Compete against other racers or challenge yourself in single-player mode, executing daring mid-air maneuvers and stunts in your car or motorcycle to maximize your speed. Customize your controls and on-screen icons to suit your playstyle, ensuring victory in every race.Endless content for speed enthusiastsFuel your racing passion with a constant stream of fresh content. Experience regular updates, unlock powerful car upgrades, and dominate the competitive circuit. Explore seasons, engage in live events, and discover unique game modes. Compete in limited-time Cups to win valuable prizes, including early access to the latest cars and motorcycles.Multiplayer and single-player racing thrillImmerse yourself in thrilling multiplayer and single-player races. Join the multiplayer community, compete in the World Series, and challenge skilled opponents. Earn points, unlock prizes, and feel the adrenaline in limited-time racing events and racing passes. Fight for victory and savor the intensity of each race.

Don't forget to follow us on social media:Discord: our official site at out the new blog at app allows you to purchase virtual items within the app and may contain third-party advertisements that may redirect you to a third-party site.Privacy Policy: of Use: License Agreement: starts with understanding how developers collect and share your data. Data privacy and security practices may vary based on your use, region, and age. The developer provided this information and may update it over time.This app may share these data types with third partiesLocation, Personal info and 2 othersThis app may collect these data typesLocation, Personal info and 4 othersData is encrypted in transitYou can request that data be deletedRatings and reviews are verifiedinfo_outlineRatings and reviews are verifiedinfo_outline Flag inappropriateShow review historyBack when I was at school, I downloaded, and yes, back then it also had ads, but never those who had to watch involuntarily, there were a lot of cars that required tokens to buy, but there were also really good cars you could buy for normal coins, if you were to grind a little. Now it's all just pay pay pay, this game became one of those gacha games with fake ads on YouTube, that sends you an ad every action you make. I'm surprised how greedy someone can be, to downgrade the game to this level.360 people found this review helpfulDid you find this helpful? Flag inappropriateShow review historyThis took forever to download, and I'm disappointed. The graphics are good and the racing itself is fun, but this game pushes ads and in-game purchases waayy too much. You're bombarded with "deals" for in-game packages from the very start. It's honestly overwhelming, and it immediately lost my interest. I don't wanna play a simple car game *that* bad.520 people found this review helpfulDid you find this helpful?It's a pretty high graphic racing game but, there are some issues with this game like how confusing the upgrade system is, the fusion coins must be at least 20k+ so i can upgrade 1 car part which is kinda boring for me because i want the game to be worth my time. You need to play some events that are impossible to win for someone who plays for free. I miss the old Asphalt that version was not high graphic but, it's better.2 people found this review helpfulDid you find this helpful?The wait is over ~ Update 73 is finally here! Test your racing skills in the Chrome Marauder Event, where you'll go head-to-head with powerful bosses. Push your limits, take on intense challenges, and unlock exclusive rewards. This update introduces two high-performance S-Class cars: McLaren 765LT Spider- McMurtry SpéirlingWe're improving the user interface/experience to make Asphalt 8 more accessible, scalable, and user-friendly. Get ready to race, compete, and win with Update 73!flagFlag as inappropriate Upload your cheat tables here (No requests) Unknown User Noobzor Posts: 6 Joined: Sun Jun 25, 2023 11:00 pm Reputation: 5 Post by Unknown User » Sun Jun 25, 2023 11:12 pm Hello! Here is the cheat table for the latest version of Asphalt 8, sorry for the long inactivity! Anyways, enjoy! ^~^ (For any problems/questions, write a comment, I'll try to answer/help.) How to use this cheat table? Install Cheat Engine Double-click the .CT file in order to open it. Click the PC icon in Cheat Engine in order to select the game process. Keep the lid. Activate the trainer options by checking boxes or setting values from 0 to 1 AttacksAtmos CT by Edison Pena Ponce, more than 50 hacks. (135.99 KiB) Downloaded 18374 times Last edited by Unknown User on Mon Dec 25, 2023 1:07 pm, edited 5 times in total. Unknown User Noobzor Posts: 6 Joined: Sun Jun 25, 2023 11:00 pm Reputation: 5 Post by Unknown User » Tue Jun 27, 2023 7:10 pm Hey I am aware of the update that came in the game. Just wait for the new cheat table to be done. Unknown User Noobzor Posts: 6 Joined: Sun Jun 25, 2023 11:00 pm Reputation: 5 Post by Unknown User » Wed Jun 28, 2023 4:54 pm Hello there! As I promised, here's the new cheat table. Just remember that getting banned will be more easy, as Gameloft is aware that a lot of people are hacking the games with cheat tables. Anyways, stay safe while using that cheat table and stay awesome guys! Attachments A8_v7.2.1a_Cheat Table 1.CT (Same hacks as before) (142.13 KiB) Downloaded 6185 times Last edited by Unknown User on Wed Jun 28, 2023 5:19 pm, edited 2 times in total. RampageFormula Administration Posts: 401 Joined: Fri Mar 03, 2017 12:04 am Reputation: 165 Post by RampageFormula » Wed Jun 28, 2023 5:40 pm You don't have to make a new topic for every update. Use the edit button and continue the topic. umer04 What is cheating? Posts: 2 Joined: Sun Aug 20, 2023 9:46 am Reputation: 0 Post by umer04 » Sun Aug 20, 2023 9:49 am Hi guys i m new here fearless first of all thanks for your amazing cheat table i have been using for a while now for different games such as AC3. Now I want to ask about Asphalt 8 table what cheats are safe and what can get us ban? Also is thr any script of TLE to win easy?? hooligan1911 What is cheating? Posts: 2 Joined: Sun Aug 20, 2023 2:28 pm Reputation: 0 Post by hooligan1911 » Sun Aug 20, 2023 2:35 pm hi there. how i can cheat fusion coins? i do credits but afraid to do other cheat,please little guide,thanks,But guys you are not. Unknown User Noobzor Posts: 6 Joined: Sun Jun 25, 2023 11:00 pm Reputation: 5 Post by Unknown User » Sun Aug 20, 2023 9:21 pm Hey! You should thank Edison Pena Ponce for these, he will appreciate it for sure! So to answer your question Umer04, yes, you can get banned for using cheat tables in Asphalt 8, except if you turn off the internet. Could you explain a little better for TLE hacks? Hooligan1911, sadly it isn't possible to hack fusion coins, as they are server sided, which means you cannot change their value. Hope it helps. hooligan1911 What is cheating? Posts: 2 Joined: Wed Sep 27, 2023 4:42 pm Reputation: 1 Post by Ray of Shadow » Wed Feb 14, 2024 5:31 pm Unknown User wrote: I Mon Dec 25, 2023 11:06 am Thanks Unknown User for reply, of course I will get thanks Edison Pena Ponce for this great stuff but don't know how except with this way Edison Pena Ponce thank you. umer04 What is cheating? Posts: 2 Joined: Sun Aug 20, 2023 9:46 am Reputation: 0 Post by umer04 » Tue Aug 22, 2023 2:49 am Unknown User wrote: I Sun Aug 20, 2023 9:21 pm Hey! You should thank Edison Pena Ponce for these, he will appreciate it for sure! So to answer your question Umer04, yes, you can get banned for using cheat tables in Asphalt 8, except if you turn off the internet. Could you explain a little better for TLE hacks? Hooligan1911, sadly it isn't possible to hack fusion coins, as they are server sided, which means you cannot change their value. Hope it helps. Like any kind of hack possible in TLE such as stopping time is most common to comes top for rewards i tried hack special event and i used time hack, ghost mode no crash and wallhack once and i did get ban so it will be helpful if we know what cheat can be used safely. Ray of Shadow What is cheating? Posts: 2 Joined: Wed Sep 27, 2023 4:42 pm Reputation: 1 Post by Ray of Shadow » Sat Oct 21, 2023 6:31 am There has been another update which isn't compatible with a lot of the codes, please update the cheat table if possible! Don't worry, it just got updated! cockatrice What is cheating? Posts: 2 Joined: Sun Jun 25, 2023 11:00 pm Reputation: 5 Post by Unknown User » Mon Dec 25, 2023 1:08 pm Ray of Shadow wrote: 1 Sat Oct 21, 2023 6:31 am There has been another update which isn't compatible with a lot of the codes, please update the cheat table if possible! Don't worry, it just got updated! cockatrice What is cheating? Posts: 2 Joined: Wed Dec 27, 2023 8:32 am Reputation: 0 Post by cockatrice » Wed Dec 27, 2023 9:46 am anyone who want Asphalt 9 trainer, contact me shzkr Noobzor Posts: 13 Joined: Fri Feb 02, 2024 5:38 pm Reputation: 0 Post by shzkr » Fri Feb 02, 2024 5:47 pm Unknown User wrote: 1 Mon Dec 25, 2023 1:08 pm Ray of Shadow wrote: 1 Sat Oct 21, 2023 6:31 am There has been another update which isn't compatible with a lot of the codes, please update the cheat table if possible! Don't worry, it just got updated! cockatrice What is cheating? Posts: 2 Joined: Wed Sep 27, 2023 4:42 pm Reputation: 1 Post by Ray of Shadow » Wed Feb 14, 2024 5:31 pm Unknown User wrote: I Mon Dec 25, 2023 1:08 pm Ray of Shadow wrote: 1 Sat Oct 21, 2023 6:31 am There has been another update which isn't compatible with a lot of the codes, please update the cheat table if possible! Don't worry, it just got updated! Man you are such a hero, best guy ever! Thanky a million, you make the game fun to play! Racing games have always been a beloved genre in the gaming world. Whether it's the thrill of speed or the satisfaction of mastering sharp turns, everyone can find something to enjoy in these games. Among the top racing games, Asphalt 8: Airborne stands out as a fan favorite. Developed by Gameloft, this game offers a high-speed experience with over 300 world-class vehicles and more than 75 intricately designed tracks. Available across multiple platforms including Android, iOS, Windows, and more, Asphalt 8 is the ultimate racing game that appeals to players of all ages.Unlocking the full potential of Asphalt 8 can be a time-consuming process, requiring players to complete numerous tasks to access the best cars and races. If you're looking to jump straight into the action without the grind, Asphalt 8 Mod APK is the perfect solution. This modified version of the game provides you with infinite credits, tokens, and nitro, along with access to all races and vehicles from the start. With these advantages, you'll be able to dominate the competition effortlessly.Aspphalt 8 Mod APK features a collection of the world's most prestigious vehicles, including Lamborghini, Bugatti, and Porsche. With over 300 high-performance cars and motorbikes, players can experience the thrill of driving their dream cars on the fastest tracks. The game also allows for extensive customization, so you can upgrade your vehicles and show off your skills on the road.In Asphalt 8 Mod APK, every race comes with a five-star rating system. To earn three stars, you must finish first in the race. Achieving second or third place will award you two or one star, respectively. Once you've secured three stars, you'll unlock a second objective mission where you'll need to perform stunts and knock down opponents to earn the remaining two stars. This system adds an extra layer of excitement and challenge to the game, encouraging players to master both racing and stunt driving. You can join teams, place bets, and race against up to eight other players simultaneously. Customize your profile with a unique nickname and logo, and compare your scores on the global leaderboard. With the multiplayer mode, the competition is always there, and the rewards are even greater.The visuals in Asphalt 8 Mod APK are nothing short of spectacular. The game's realistic 3D graphics make every race feel like a cinematic experience, with detailed environments that include beaches, hills, and bustling city streets. The sound design is equally impressive, with a dynamic soundtrack that enhances the adrenaline-pumping action of each race. With regular updates, Asphalt 8 Mod APK introduces new events, challenges, and rewards, keeping the gameplay fresh and exciting. The game's career mode features 180 events spread across eight seasons, with additional maps and locations like Dubai being added in recent updates. Thanks to the mod's unlimited resources, you can enjoy these exotic locations without worrying about in-game expenses.One of the most exhilarating features of Asphalt 8 Mod APK is the unlimited nitro boost. This feature allows you to maintain top speed throughout the race, giving you a significant advantage over your opponents. Whether you're dodging traffic or breaking through barriers, the nitro boost adds a new level of intensity to every race.Aspphalt 8 Mod APK is undoubtedly one of the best racing games available today. With its stunning graphics, extensive vehicle selection, and thrilling gameplay, it offers an unmatched racing experience. Whether you're a casual player or a hardcore racing enthusiast, Asphalt 8 Mod APK has something for everyone. Download it now and start your high-speed adventure! 2013 video game This article has multiple issues. Please help improve it or discuss these issues on the talk page. (Learn how and when to remove these messages) This article needs additional citations for verification. Please help improve this article by adding citations to reliable sources. Unsourced material may be challenged and removed.Find sources: "Asphalt 8: Airborne" - news - newspapers - books - scholar - JSTOR (July 2022) (Learn how and when to remove this message)This article may require copy editing for grammar, style, cohesion, tone, or spelling. You can assist by editing it. (March 2025) (Learn how and when to remove this message)This article may be written from a fan's point of view, rather than a neutral point of view. Please clean it up to conform to a higher standard of quality, and to make it neutral in tone. (March 2025) (Learn how and when to remove this message)This article's tone or style may not reflect the encyclopedic tone used on Wikipedia. See Wikipedia's guide to writing better articles for suggestions. (March 2025) (Learn how and when to remove this message) (Learn how and when to remove this message) 2013 video gameAsphalt 8: AirborneCover art featuring a McLaren Senna GTRDeveloper(s)Gameloft BarcelonaAPublisher(s)GameloftSeriesAsphaltPlatform(s) iOS iPadOS Android Windows Phone 8 BlackBerry 10 Fire OS Tizen Microsoft Windows tvOS macOS Windows 10 Mobile ReleaseiOS & AndroidWW: August 22, 2013[1]Windows 8.1 & Windows Phone 8WW: November 13, 2013[2][3] BlackBerry 10 WW: January 15, 2014[4] Tizen WW: April, 2015 tvOS WW: October 30, 2015[5]Genre(s)RacingMode(s)Single-player, online multiplayer Asphalt 8: Airborne is a 2013 arcade-style racing game developed by Gameloft Barcelona and published by Gameloft. It is the eighth major game in the Asphalt series. It was released on August 22, 2013, for iOS and Android,[1] on November 13 for Windows 8[2] and Windows Phone 8,[3] on January 15, 2014, for BlackBerry 10,[4] and on April 5, 2015 for Tizen. Its successor, Asphalt Legends Unite (originally titled Asphalt 9: Legends), was announced on February 26, 2018. The game has about 470 million players according to its App Store description.[6] Besides the use of stunt jumps as a central gameplay mechanic, as seen in this gameplay still featuring the Audi R8 e-tron, Asphalt 8 also makes extensive use of simulated HDR rendering and pixel shaders, as seen on the sky and the specular reflections on the road surface. The gameplay is similar to that of Asphalt 7: Heat, with the player given four control options: "Tilt to steer" (auto-acceleration with movement controlled by tilting the device), "Tilt and icons" (manual acceleration via an on-screen icon, with movement controlled by tilting the device), "On-screen controls" (auto-acceleration with movement controlled by an on-screen virtual steering wheel), and "Tap to steer" (auto-acceleration with movement controlled by tapping the side of the screen). The Windows 8.1 and Windows 10 versions feature different control schemes, including the WASD and arrow keys. The five-star rating system with primary and secondary objectives first introduced in Asphalt 6: Adrenaline has also been used in Asphalt 7 and Asphalt 8. Three stars are awarded for finishing in first place, two for second, and one for third. Achieving secondary objectives, such as performing a given number of stunts or knocking down opponents, awards the player with two additional stars. In the Moto Blitz and Championship modes, the primary objectives must be completed to unlock the secondary objectives. Obtaining stars in an event is cumulative; players who finished first in an event without completing the secondary objectives may replay the race and obtain a five-star rating even if the primary objectives are not met.[7] The core gameplay is slightly different, however. As the subtitle implies, the focus of Airborne is on jumping, with tracks featuring a lot more ramps than in previous games.[8] In addition to performing standard jumps, the player can also perform flat spins (by drifting off of a ramp) and barrel rolls (by driving off of a curved ramp). It is also possible to perform a barrel roll by driving with half the car on a normal ramp.[9] All jumps earn a boost; the longer the airtime, the more boost earned. Destroying obstacles such as barriers and lamp posts, and hitting or near-missing traffic cars, also earns boost. Another new feature, which substitutes the "Adrenaline Mode" in Asphalt 6 and 7, is the ability to perform a "Perfect Nitro". When the player activates the boost, a small red zone appears on the boost bar. If the player activates the boost again when the boost meter is in the red zone, the boost will become stronger, lasting until the player runs out of boost, brakes, crashes, or hits a ramp. In the initial version of the game, the career mode consisted of 180 events split into eight "seasons", which became progressively more difficult.[10][11] In later versions, additional challenges and seasons were added. As of March 2020, Asphalt 8 had a total of nine seasons, excluding the "McLaren Legends Season". When the game begins, only the first season is available; later seasons must be unlocked either by earning enough stars or by purchasing a "Season Unlock" (which cannot be used to skip ahead more than one season at a time).[12] The Great Wall update added 30 new events centered on the Great Wall of China.[13] The Dubai update introduced a new season where only fully upgraded cars are eligible to participate, besides adding three new events centered on Dubai.[14] The San Diego Harbor update introduced a new season featuring events where the player can participate in a 24-car race (exclusive to iOS 8), alongside several new events centered on both Dubai and the San Diego Harbor.[15] Asphalt 8 is the first game in the Asphalt series to use Game Center for achievements rather than Gameloft's own Gameloft Live.[16] The April 2015 update added support for the Apple Watch and made it compatible only on the iPhone 5 or later models using iOS 8.2 or later through the use of Bluetooth or Wi-Fi. The October 2015 update added support for the Apple TV. Online multiplayer play can be accessed both locally and globally via Wi-Fi. There is also a "World Series" online multiplayer mode, although this mode is unavailable on the iPod touch 4 and iPhone 4.[17] Playing in multiplayer is the only way to increase a player's in-game level; a higher level results in higher credit earnings. The Multiplayer League update in October 2016 introduced reworked multiplayer gameplay in the form of the "Multiplayer League", where players compete against each other in online multiplayer races to win exclusive rewards. Asphalt 8: Airborne currently has more than 390 vehicles. The Dodge Dart GT is the player's starting vehicle.[18] The list includes trucks such as the Ford F-150, supercars such as the Lamborghini Centenario, Pininfarina Battista and Koenigsegg Jesko, Formula One cars, and fictional vehicles like Gru's vehicle from the Despicable Me series, as well as a few Vision Gran Turismo cars such as the Bugatti Vision Gran Turismo (later this car was deleted from game due to licensing issues). The game also features electric vehicles like the Tesla Model S. For accuracy purposes, electric vehicles don't have internal combustion engine sounds. Instead, they possess a "wheezing" sound to emphasize the vehicles' lack of internal combustion. Since an update in August 2017, the game also features motorcycles for the first time since Asphalt 6: Adrenaline. Unlike in previous Asphalt games, the player no longer needs to obtain stars to unlock them; instead, they are available from the very start and can be bought with credits, which can also be used to upgrade them. This section does not cite any sources. Please help improve this section by adding citations to reliable sources. Unsourced material may be challenged and removed. (January 2023) (Learn how and when to remove this message) Asphalt 8 is the first game in the series to feature a licensed soundtrack. When playing the game, there are three selectable "stations": "bass", "neon", and "electronic". There was also a "rock" station until July 2021, when it was removed and all of its remaining tracks were merged into the "electronic" station. Deadmau5 is one of the featured artists in the game. ReceptionAggregate scoreAggregateScoreMetacritic91/100[19]Review scoresPublicationScoreGamezebo[20]IGN7.8/10[21]MacLife[9]Pocket Gamer9/10[11]TouchArcade[8]148Apps[10]AppSpy5/5[12]Digital Spy[22] The iOS version of Asphalt 8 holds an aggregate score of 91 out of 100 on Metacritic based on 18 reviews.[19] TouchArcade's Eric Ford gave the game a perfect score, 5 out of 5, calling it the "pinncale" of the Asphalt series. He was particularly impressed with the new jump-focused gameplay and the graphics, arguing that "the graphics engine does a great job of imparting that sense of speed that is essential for a game that thrives on fast gameplay". His only criticism was what he perceived as a disparity between the price of some of the cars and the reward money given to the player: "as you get towards the really expensive cars, you'll notice that you don't earn quite as much money proportionally to afford what you might want." However, he saw this as a "minor complaint" and concluded by saying "the iOS platform has quietly become a haven for great racers, and Asphalt 8 looks to be leading the pack right now." [8] AppSpy's James Gilmour also gave the game 5 out of 5, praising the controls, the range of tracks, cars and upgrades. He argued that "Asphalt 8: Airborne plays like the greatest hits compilation of arcade racers. Perhaps you enjoyed the powerfules from Out Run and Ridge Racer. Or the nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing 3, arguing "If Real Racing 3 is a precision instrument, then Asphalt 8: Airborne is a lump of dynamite. [...] The nitro boosts and take-down games from Burnout? Well, you'll find them all in Asphalt 8. The good news is that, rather than Gameloft simply ripping off aspects of other games and mashing them randomly together, the dev has managed to create a polished, adrenaline-infused racer which is way more fun than it has any right to be. [...] Though Asphalt 8: Airborne's parts may be borrowed, they have been skillfully assembled to build a highly entertaining vehicle." [12] MacLife's Andrew Hayward also awarded a perfect 5 out of 5 score, feeling the game reverses the sense of stagnation which had crept into the Asphalt series by the time of Asphalt 7, and arguing that it "essentially feels like a reboot in terms of quality. It's actually a rather amazing feat". He compared the game to Real Racing 3, praising Asphalt 8 for featuring a "real" multiplayer mode. He concluded that "what began life as a passable mobile diversion nearly a decade ago has finally blossomed into a racing experience that's frantic, hearty, and really rather impressive throughout. Asphalt 8: Airborne blurs the line between mobile and console racers, with an amazing asking price to boot, and it's easily the best racer of its kind on the App Store today." [9] Andrew Stevens of 148Apps scored the game 4.5 out of 5, arguing that it takes the Asphalt series "to a new height." He, too, praised the new jump-focused gameplay: "I've always had great fun with arcade racers and enjoyed the previous Asphalt entries, but something as simple as adding ramps and a few stunts to the action has really taken this series in a new direction." He concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne is a great addition to the series and arcade racing fans will find themselves very happy with its offerings." [10] Gamezebo's David Oxford also awarded a score of 4.5 out of 5, praising the gameplay, the graphics, the range of cars, the level design and the use of licensed music. Although he was critical of the drifting mechanics, he concluded that "Asphalt 8: Airborne's numerous features and modes, including multiplayer, help round out this package. It's an easy recommendation for anyone who likes their racers a little more realistic than a cartoon kart racer, but with a healthy dose of over-the-top arcade action." [20] Pocket Gamer scored the game 9 out of 10, also giving it a "Gold Award". Reviewer Harry Slater compared the game to Real Racing