Beclomethasone side effects to report

Naproxen is a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug (NSAID). It works by reducing hormones that cause inflammation and pain in the body. Naproxen is used to treat pain or inflammation caused by conditions such as arthritis, ankylosing spondylitis, tendonitis, bursiti, gout, or menstrual cramps. It can also be used to treat acute pain caused by other conditions not listed in this pharmacological guide. Late release tablets or prolonged release are slower forms of naproxen that are used only for treating chronic conditions such as arthritis or ankylosing spondylitis. These forms will not work quickly enough to treat acute pain. Common naproxen side effects may include: indigestion, heartburn, stomach pain, nausea; headache, dizziness, drowsiness; burning, itching, rash; swelling; orringing in the ears. Always look for the advice of your physician or other qualified health provider with any question you may have regarding a medical condition. Prednisone provides relief for inflamed areas of the body. It is used to treat a number of different conditions, such as inflammation (flavor), severe allergies, adrenal problems, arthritis, and so on. Prednisone is only available with the doctor's prescription. What should you know before taking prednisone? For prednisone, the following should be considered: Allergies. Tell your doctor if you havehad any unusual or allergic reaction to prednisone or any other medication. Specific problems for pediatrics. Pediatric patients are more likely to have slower growth and bone problems if prednisone is used for a long time. Geriatric specific problems. Older patients are more likely to have liver, kidney or heart problems related to age, which may require caution and dose adjustment for elderly patients receiving prednisone. Pregnancy and nursing. Using prednisone while you are pregnant can damage your unborn child. Studies in women suggest that this drug poses the minimum risk to the child when used during breastfeeding. What should you avoid while taking prednisone? If you take prednisone for a long time, it is very important that your doctor will check you on regular visits for any side effects that may be caused by prednisone. Blood or urine tests can be necessary to check the side effects. Using alcohol or tobacco with some drugs can cause interactions. Discuss with your doctor using your medicine with food, alcohol or tobacco. The presence of other medical problems can affect the use of prednisone. Make sure you tell the doctor if you have any other medical problems. In addition to its necessary effects, a drug may cause some side effects. Although not all these side effects can occur, if they occur, they may need medical attention. Check with your doctor immediately if any of the followingEffects occur: Aggression Agitation Damaged vision Decrease in the amount of urine Quick, slow, beat, or irregular heartbeat or pulse Headache Reliability Mood changes Noisy, rattling Numbness or tingling in the arms or legs Pounding in the ears Breathing short Swing of the fingers, hands, feet, or lower legs Thinking breathing problems The dose of prednisone will be different for different patients. Follow the doctor's orders or directions on the label. If the dose is different, do not change it unless your doctor tells you to do it.
