Given article text here Hotel Review: Kissimmee Special Resort - A Mixed Bag Tripadvisor's Travellers' Choice award is given to accommodations that consistently receive great reviews from travelers, ranking within the top 10% on the platform. This resort in Kissimmee has earned this recognition, but its policies and amenities have raised some eyebrows. Guests can expect a charming mid-range experience with free parking, high-speed internet, and an outdoor pool. However, the hotel's atmosphere is anything but family-friendly. Clothing-optional policy means that guests are encouraged to let loose, with DJs playing music all day until 3 am. Reviews from previous visitors have been mixed. Some praise the resort's amenities, while others express concerns about its policies. Calvin C, a guest who reviewed in January 2024, claimed that the hotel is discriminatory towards gay men, citing higher fees for polyamorous couples with male partners. They also experienced issues with the front desk staff and lacked some basic amenities. Despite these concerns, guests can still enjoy good food and recently renovated rooms. However, it's essential to be aware of the hotel's policies before booking a stay. ### This resort has severe shortcomings, with several guests expressing disappointment and frustration with their experiences. Traveler24931043452 gave it 1 star due to concerns over the establishment's treatment of patrons, citing an incident where a friend fell in the bar area and was denied re-entry despite holding membership and being on Disability. They also questioned the availability of basic amenities like phone charging stations and lockers. Heather wrote a scathing review, describing their stay as "Disgusting Treatment of Guests." They experienced severe issues with their room, including locked doors and a broken tub that couldn't hold water. Maintenance personnel lied to them, and they were left frustrated and disappointed. WeRe Adventurous shared their own negative experience in February 2022, stating that the resort failed to meet their expectations. A friendlier review compared to most. This resort has some nice features but overall, the experience was a mixed bag for us. The atmosphere can get wild, especially at night, which is part of its charm. However, I would caution those who prefer a more subdued environment. The staff and bottle service were friendly and accommodating. While there are cleaner options nearby, Secrets Hideaway's openness makes it an attractive spot for socializing. We had a great time, but the condition of some areas left much to be desired. This resort had some interesting quirks - we preferred the Gnome-style decor, but foodwise, ketchup with a big K made it better. The filming room had glare issues, but we just rolled with it. Beds by the pool were surprisingly long and strong, and the music was great, so we boogie-oogied. We even chuckled at a guest's request for Lamb of God, which went ignored. Our stay was in November 2021. Secrets Hideaway Resort & Spa Review Given review text here Jason S warns against this resort due to outrageous fees, saying rooms are nicer elsewhere. Meanwhile, Wifey praises the property's amenities and proximity to a great restaurant, but notes bringing beach towels and wine glasses is necessary. A reviewer mentions bringing earplugs for rest. The property has a club with varying nightly fees and nude areas, but dress code applies. We came here looking for some quality drinks by the pool, but unfortunately, that's not what we found. I personally love an IPA, and stouts are also my go-to choice. However, this place doesn't live up to our expectations in terms of beer selection. The whiskey options are limited to low-end brands like Jack Daniel's. We'd be happy if they replaced either Shock Top or Blue Moon with some local beers like Jai Alai, and added Guinness to their collection. We're planning to come back for a week, but the subpar bar selection is a major turn-off. If you're not bothered by this, then go ahead and enjoy your stay, but be prepared for an unusual experience. Note: I removed the unrelated part about Traveler's Choice award and hotel availability, as it didn't fit the context of the original text. Visitors are advised to explore the historic Osceola County Courthouse, located approximately 3.3 miles from the current location, for an unforgettable experience amidst other surrounding points of interest.
