Borderless windowed tool

UPDATE: Check out the five best Windows backup tools for the results of this Hive Five. There are two things that stand in the way for most of us when we put off setting up backups for our hard drive. The first is motivation, but if you're already reading Lifehacker, we'll assume you understand why backup is so important. The second is knowing where to get started, including what software will provide you with the best bang for your backup buck. So for this week's Hive Five, we want to hear all about your favorite Windows hard drive backup tools. Hit the jump for more details, then nominate your favorite hard drive backup application in the comments. Click to view Your data is your life, and if you're not backing it up regularly, you're flirting...Read moreThe first round of the Hive Five voting takes place in the comments, where you nominate your favorite tool for the job. We get hundreds of comments, so to make your nomination clear, please include it at the top of your comment like so: VOTE: Backup App Goes Here. If you don't follow this format, your vote may not be counted. To prevent tampering with the results, votes from first-time commenters may not be counted. After you've made your nomination, let us know what makes it stand out from the competition.About the Hive Five: Our new feature series, the Hive Five, asks readers to answer the most frequently asked question we get—"Which tool is the best?" Once a week we'll put out a call for contenders looking for the best solution to a certain problem, then YOU tell us your favorite tools to get the job done. Every Thursday, we'll report back with the top five recommendations and give you a chance to vote on which is best. For an example, check out last week's Hive Five best Windows maintenance tools. You download, create, delete, and move around countless files and endless piles of data on your...Read moreUPDATE: Check out the five best Windows backup tools for the results of this Hive Five. There are...Read moreMozyHome (Freeware and Shareware) MozyHome does unlimited online backup for just $5 a month. Mozy is a set-it-and-forget-it solution, and the setting up part is incredibly simple. If you're just looking to give it a test run or you don't need unlimited backup, sign up for MozyHome Free, which gives you 2GB of backup space for gratis. (original post)Windows and now Mac: Previously-mentioned Windows-only backup client for Mozy is now available for...Read moreCobian Backup (Donationware) Cobian Backup is free backup software that supports scheduled local and remote backups. Users love its rich feature set, as Cobian supports nearly every feature of its shareware alternatives. All current versions of Cobian are freeware, but the latest (version 9) is no longer open source. (original post)Weblog gHacks takes you step-by-step through backing up important files to an off-site FTP server...Read moreSyncBack (Freeware and Shareware) SyncBack is full-featured backup software available in both freeware and shareware versions. The freeware SyncBack has a few limitations that the shareware version doesn't, like inability to backup open files, but both versions offer extensive features—including backup profiles and options for local and remote backups. The shareware version of SyncBack will set you back $30. (original post)Acronis True Image (Shareware) Acronis True Image creates full live disk images of your PC so that when the time comes that you need to restore a backup, you're not just restoring files—you're restoring an exact copy of your PC as it was. The latest version of Acronis supports excluding individual files and folders from your image or you can set criteria for the data that you want to back up (in case you don't actually want to include everything in your disk image). Acronis True Image costs $50 and a 15 day trial version is available.Carbonite (Shareware) Carbonite is an online backup solution similar to MozyHome. For $50 a year, Carbonite provides unlimited online backup and is another set-it-and-forget-it solution which offers off-site backup to remote servers. The biggest difference between Carbonite and Mozy is the price: Carbonite is $50 per year upfront compared to MozyHome's $5 per month, which adds up to $60 a year but doesn't lock you into a year. Carbonite does not offer a free version like MozyHome Free's 2GBs, but there is a 15-day trial. For more user comparisons, check out our Carbonite vs. Mozy faceoff. Our recent poll on online backup shows that most Lifehacker readers prefer Mozy to back up their...Read moreNow that you've seen the best, it's time to vote up your favorite.This week's honorable mentions go out to DriveImage XML (original post), Jungle Disk (original post), SyncToy (original post), and Windows built-in backup.Tech columnist Mike Elgan has found what he considers the ultimate backup solution: Jungle Disk, a...Read moreWhat's your choice of backup tool for Windows?
