We'd thought she had the potential to be a top executive, but now her very survival is in question." The person speaking on the other end of the phone was the head of HR for a large telecom entity. Then, feel free to give me a call. "We need your help with one of our managers who seems to have gone off the deep end. What is it, and how can you avoid it? He continued, explaining the telecom needed someone who "can help save this woman's career. Or, if that's not going to happen, just be honest enough to tell her boss it's already too late."
