In a series of tweets Saturday night, the Chughtai Lab posted a statement to clarify its position on Sharif's forged medical reports. The lab mentioned using a patient's information, online reports can be accessed, whereas patient address and other profile information can also be changed. It said further that "online profile of one of its patients was tampered and modified without permission: Privacy of our patients lab reports is important to us. Patient results can be accessed on our servers by using patient ID information that is printed on their lab reports. That is why photos of lab reports should not be shared on social media.— Chughtai Lab - Official (@ChughtaiLab) March 23, 2019 Using patient ID information, online reports, previous reports can be accessed. Patient address and other profile information can also be changed. In today's episode, someone has accessed the patient's profile and edited the address field.— Chughtai Lab - Official (@ChughtaiLab) March 23, 2019 The Lab clarified further that: "All of our patients are respectable to us, and we are not affiliated with any political party. We have blocked online access to the patient's lab reports to prevent any further tampering with the patient's online profile." It further stated that "The patient's online lab record has been restored to original condition and shall be shared with the family with a different patient ID number so that privacy of the data can be maintained." All of our patients are respectable to us, and we are not affiliated with any political party. We have blocked online access to the patient's lab reports to prevent any further tampering with the patient's online profile.— Chughtai Lab - Official (@ChughtaiLab) March 23, 2019 The patient's online lab record has been restored to original condition and shall be shared with the family with a different patient ID number, so that privacy of the data can be maintained.— Chughtai Lab - Official (@ChughtaiLab) March 23, 2019 The lab informed that the incident has been reported to the FIA's cyber crime wing to identify the person involved in tempering the medical report. We are very sorry that the online profile was changed with inappropriate remarks on our server. We respect all of our patients. We will be working with FIA to identify the individuals who tampered with the records.— Chughtai Lab - Official (@ChughtaiLab) March 23, 2019 The Chughtai Lab tweeted that "Twitter user @endlessquest92 has admitted online to this act." Dear @cybercrimemia online profile of one of our patients was tampered and modified without permission today. Twitter user @endlessquest92 has admitted online to this act. Please see attached image. pic.twitter.com/whbeRSOUAZ— Chughtai Lab - Official (@ChughtaiLab) March 23, 2019 The lab administration has also issued a press release to make it clear that they are not associated with any political party, adding that the administration is taking further steps to strengthen the security of online reports in order to avoid such incidents in future. Our press release regarding today's events. pic.twitter.com/775foit4r3U— Chughtai Lab - Official (@ChughtaiLab) March 23, 2019 On Saturday, an image of a Lahore Chughtai Lab test report, having patient identity number 13001-19-104183295 and name M Nawaz was circulating on social media, particularly on Twitter, having replaced the residential address on the report with a phrase saying, "Please return Pakistan's looted money and freely live anywhere. Regards @endlessquest92."
