

Continue

Online masters science finance

Our Global Finance & Banking MSc offers a unique blend of theoretical methodologies grounded in real-world practice, delivered by King's Business School, a triple-accredited institution. The course is ranked 17th in the UK (Complete University Guide 2025) and is offered entirely online, allowing students to study from anywhere in the world. With its focus on practical application, this Master of Finance degree has become increasingly important for ambitious individuals working in finance, with Forbes declaring it a "minimum credential" in recent times. To help those considering pursuing an online Master of Finance degree, we have compiled a list of the 50 best programs worldwide, including our own Global Finance & Banking MSc. We evaluated over 80 online programs using a point system that considered factors such as program cost, student-to-faculty ratio, and national recognition. Our ranking methodology ensures that only the most high-quality programs make it onto the list, providing students with the best possible options for their education. America University Master of Science Financial Planning Master degree offered by University in America University Profile Points: - Benedictine $40,000 - Tiffin University $28,000 - Concordia Wisconsin $26,640 Ranking Top Universities in America for Online Finance Degrees 1. Benedictine University 2. Tiffin University 3. Concordia University Wisconsin • University of St. Mary: Offers one of the cheapest and best online master's in finance programs with a 1-year completion option. • Walsh College: Recognized for its top online master's in finance program with 15 different courses, including financial stimulation and leadership. • New England Institute of Business at Cambridge College: Provides an accelerated 15-month program for over $30,000, with flexible part-time options available. • University of Texas of the Permian Basin: One of the cheapest online MBA programs with a 12-month completion option and flexibility for part-time students. • Southern New Hampshire University: Ranked as one of the top online master's in finance programs at #38, offering full-time and part-time options. • University of St. Francis: Offers an affordable online Master of Business program with flexible course schedules and a strong student-to-faculty ratio. Drexel University's finance program offers a 36-credit degree with a concentration in finance, designed to be completed in 12-18 months. Mississippi College provides an online Master of Business Administration with a finance specialization, consisting of 30 credits and taking two years to complete. Creighton University's MBA with a focus on finance comprises 33 credits, covering topics such as portfolio management and fixed income derivatives, typically completed within two years. Saint Joseph's University offers a 41-credit Master of Science in Finance program, which can be finished in under 12 months, with classes including portfolio management and security analysis. Villanova University's Master of Business Administration with a concentration in finance includes corporate finance and strategic market management, taking 21 months to complete but offering part-time options. Johns Hopkins University's Master of Science in Finance consists of 36 credits, covering financial topics, with a completion time of two years including part-time flexibility. University programs offer flexible schedules and affordable tuition rates for online students pursuing their master's in finance. University of Louisiana at Lafayette: Low program cost, with annual return on investment percentage of 7%. Takes about 15 months to complete. Program includes 33 credits worth classes such as data analysis and managerial economics. Johnson & Wales University: High-quality education at an affordable price point, $28,296. Program consists of 30-36 credits, designed to be completed in 15 months or more flexible options available. Texas A&M University, Commerce: Business programs ranked among the best in the world, with a program cost of $10,196 (in-state) and $22,856 (out-of-state). Takes about two years to complete. Program includes classes on fixed income analysis and finance research. University of Michigan, Dearborn: Affiliated with University of Michigan, offering an excellent Master of Science in Finance with a program cost of $31,290 (in-state) and $55,230 (out-of-state). Typically takes 12-16 months to complete. Boston University: Private research university offering online students a Master of Science in Financial Management for a fee of $63,171. Takes 18-24 months to complete, with flexibility available. Ranked as the 39th best program globally by QS World University Rankings. University of Miami: Private research university located in Coral Gables, offering a Master of Science in Finance degree through various programs and courses. Given article text here The Master of Business Administration with a concentration in finance is a popular online program that offers students a comprehensive education in economic theory and management information systems. With the University of Miami's program being ranked as the 93rd best in the world, it's clear that this degree can provide valuable skills and knowledge for those looking to advance their careers. Seal of approval from other reputable institutions The following schools offer online MBA programs with a focus on finance: - Southeastern Oklahoma State University: A public university founded in 1909, offering an online MBA with a concentration in finance that can be completed in about one year. The program includes coursework on research methods and behavioral management. - University of Maryland Global Campus: Accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, this online education branch of the University of Maryland system offers a variety of graduate degrees, including a Master of Management in Financial Management. - Fort Hays State University: One of the cheapest online MBAs to make our list, consisting of 34 credits and taking about two years to complete when taken full time. The program includes coursework on banking and financial institutions. - University of Massachusetts Lowell: A public research university part of the esteemed University of Massachusetts system, offering a Master of Business Administration with a concentration in finance that was ranked as the 22nd best online MBA by U.S. News & World Report. - American University: An online program that allows students from anywhere in the world to complete a Master of Business Administration with a focus on finance. The 48-credit MBA can be completed in 12, 15, 18, or 24 months and includes coursework in fraud examination and forensic accounting. University of Scranton The University of Scranton offers a Master of Science in Finance online program with a unique flexibility feature. Ranked among the best by publications like U.S. News & World Report and The Princeton Review, this 30-credit degree can be completed in as few as 12 months. With a student/faculty ratio of 13:1, students receive personalized attention. University of Houston, Clear Lake The University of Houston, Clear Lake provides an online Master of Science in Finance program with a competitive price point. The program costs $10,035 (in-state) and $20,375 (out-of-state), making it an affordable option for those looking to upgrade their skills. With coursework in commercial banking and corporate finance, students gain practical knowledge. University of Washington The University of Washington offers a Master of Science in Computational Finance and Risk Management online program. This 42-credit degree takes about two years to complete, but part-time options are available. With a cost of $44,100, the program is slightly more expensive than some other options on this list. West Texas A&M University West Texas A&M University offers an online Master of Science in Finance and Economics program with a lower cost point. The program costs $11,862, making it one of the most affordable options on this list. With coursework in investment analysis and corporate governance, students gain a comprehensive understanding of finance. Purdue University Global The Purdue University Global offers an online Master of Science in Finance program that focuses on career-oriented fields. This 56-credit degree takes about two years to complete, but is divided into six-week terms for flexibility. With a cost of $27,160 and a 20-year ROI percentage of 10%, this program offers excellent value. Colorado State University Global Campus The Colorado State University Global Campus provides an online Master of Finance program that can be completed in about two years. The program costs $18,000 and consists of 36 credits. With coursework in investments and bank management, students gain practical knowledge and skills to succeed in the finance industry. According to its online platform, a Master of Business Administration with a concentration in finance can be earned through the university's program. In Delaware, this degree was ranked as one of the top online M.B.A.s by U.S. News & World Report and QS World University Rankings. The course consists of 44 credits and takes around 16 months to finish. Northeastern University has a well-known reputation as a private research institution that offers an excellent online education. It provides a Master of Science in Finance degree, which was ranked among the top five by U.S. News & World Report. This program requires 30 credits and can be completed within 16 months. Syracuse University is another esteemed private research university offering an online MBA with a finance concentration. Publications such as U.S. News & World Report, The Princeton Review, and QS World University Rankings have ranked it highly. To finish the degree, students must complete 54 credits, which can be done in as little as two years. Washington State University is Washington's second-largest institution for higher education, offering a Master of Business Administration with a finance concentration through its online program. U.S. News & World Report has recently ranked this master's program among the top online MBAs in the country. The degree consists of 30 credits and can be completed within about 22 months. The University of Texas at Dallas offers an online MBA with a finance concentration, which is well-regarded by publications such as U.S. News & World Report and The Princeton Review. This program is designed for busy students and has been ranked among the top online MBAs in the country. A part-time Master of Finance program at Penn State World Campus can be completed within six years. Penn State's online program has been recognized by The Princeton Review and U.S. News & World Report as one of the best in the country. Arizona State University offers a Master of Business Administration with a focus on finance, which takes around 2.5 years to complete and is ranked among the top programs nationally. Lehigh University provides a flexible Master of Business Administration program that can be completed in 3.5 years, with a concentration in finance available. The University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill offers an MBA with a focus on finance that takes around two years to finish, although faster or slower options are also available. Carnegie Mellon University's online MBA program with a focus on finance typically takes two years to complete, while Auburn University's part-time option gives students four years to finish their degree. Auburn University offers a highly-ranked online Master of Science in Finance, which consists of 30 credits and covers subjects like cost analysis and financial management. The program is designed to be completed within two years, but flexible options are available for part-time students. 1. Indiana University's online Master of Finance degree tops the list of best online finance master's degrees. As one of the nation's top universities, IU is recognized for its excellence in both academics and online programs. The 30-credit program covers subjects like economics and capital markets and can be completed within 18 months. With flexible options available, students have more freedom to balance their education with other responsibilities.