Missionary Christian Academy serves 15 students in grades Prekindergarten-12 and is a member of the Accelerated Christian Education (ACE) or (School of Tomorrow). Shawn Moore has been ministering to students for over 20 years in either a school setting, church setting, or by helping raise his 3 beautiful children with his wife Sarah. Shawn has multiple degrees including a Master's degree in Education from Liberty University. He has over 15 years experience as a Principal in the private Christian setting in the Indianapolis area. Shawn has also run numerous summer camps over the last decade in which hundreds of students have attended. Shawn and his wife, Sarah, were high school sweethearts and have been together since they were 15 years old. Shawn's Philosophy of Teaching: "Mission Christian is a place where students and parents can feel that the highest level of education is being taught in an environment where God is put first. We incorporate the in-person model 3 days a week with a mix of online teaching and instruction with the same teachers on the other two days of the week. This allows for learning in a world that is ever changing and may need to be conducted fully online at times as unknowns arise, which we are ready for at any moment. We also understand how important family time is and that some parents may not want the typical 5 day a week setting away from their children. We value the fact that our students learn and grow in their faith at the same time. At M.C.A., we truly live our motto: Christian Education...on mission!" Jerry Ackerman has taught students for his entire career either as a youth pastor, teacher, or motivational speaker. Having a BA in Secondary Education/History from Milligan College in Tennessee, Jerry taught 7th grade in Iowa in the late 90s. He transitioned to youth ministry for 8 years in Pennsylvania, and then traveled the country speaking to over 100 churches, conferences, and educational events. Jerry's passion for children's education is evident in his career resume and he looks forward to continuing to educate students at Mission Christian Academy. Jerry's Philosophy of Teaching: "The first word that comes to my mind is relational. I've always believed that quality relationships allow learning to blossom. Teaching is also more than content, yes, content is important, but just as important is delivery. I have found that excellent content communicated poorly is worthless. Conversely, mundane content delivered well can be engaging and relevant." Sarah is married to her husband of 31 years, Joe, and is a loving mother to her four children: Andrew (30), Alyssa (27), Ryan (25); and Katie (21). She has her Bachelor of Arts in Elementary Education from Wheaton College. She homeschooled her four children through high school. With her final two children now in college, Sarah is continuing her 94 years in the homeschool and education community by working at MCA. She enjoys spending quality time with her family, getting lost in an absorbing book, and camping at Dale Hollow Lake, which is a longstanding family tradition. Cynthia has been married to Wade for 35 years, spending 25 of those years homeschooling their 9 children. She actively mentors other families around the country to help make the transition to home education seamless and loving. Cynthia coaches youth sports and participates in various community groups. She has 5 married children, 5 grandchildren, a college student and 2 3rd graders at MCA! God has given her the gift of serving others and creating community wherever she goes, and she is excited to share this at MCA! Julie Buck is a graduate of Hamilton Southeastern High School and went on to study Elementary Education at Purdue University. She also studied Early Childhood Development at IUPUI and graduated in 2003 with a bachelor's degree in Elementary Education. While at Purdue, Julie was a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority and the Purdue student council. While attending IUPUI, she was a Jaguars cheerleader and loved cheering at all the games with her husband supporting her from the sidelines. Julie has been blessed with two amazing daughters who have both developed a love for cheer. Her husband, Jay, is also hands down the best cheer dad. Jay and Julie have been married for 20 years and look forward to many more wonderful years together. Julie and her family enjoy swimming, family movie night, traveling to cheerleading competitions, MSC Church Camp, road trips to Florida, all things Disney, and just being together. Julie has been a kindergarten teacher the last 7 years at Hamilton Southeastern Schools and absolutely LOVES her kindergarten cuties. Julie is grateful for the outstanding experience she obtained during her time at HSE and looks forward to continuing to build relationships with her students, their families and colleagues at MCA. Julie joins Mission Christian Academy with a thankful heart and enthusiasm knowing she can combine her love for the Lord and children into her classroom each day. Julie's Philosophy of Teaching: "I believe that all children are a gift from God and offer something special from which we can learn. I believe all students have strengths and my goal is to tap into those talents and grow upon their strengths to help each child succeed. I believe it's important to build self-confidence and focus on the whole child to ensure students are thriving socially, emotionally, physically and academically. I believe ALL students are special, talented, amazing and should feel cherished with a sense of belonging, that way they will continue to grow in their love of learning and enjoy the journey. I believe all students SHINE Bright and should never stop reaching for the stars because God has big plans for all His little blessings!" Angela brings to MCA unique life experiences. Angela was born and raised in Anchorage, Alaska. Following high school graduation, her family relocated to Indiana where she attended Anderson University. Angela began teaching and coaching volleyball at Hamilton Southeastern Schools in 1997 until 2005. After that teaching stint, she lived internationally in Japan and the Dominican Republic. In the Dominican Republic, she had a unique opportunity to work with and teach at Nueva Esperanza (New Hope Girls). In 2018, she rejoined HSE Schools in the English as a New Language department. In 2020, she moved two of her boys to MCA. They had such an amazing Christian column for the Current newspapers (2006-2015, Carmel, Westfield, Noblesville, Fishers), and still blogs weekly about Christian encouragement, faith, and theology at CommonChristianity.blogspot.com. Mr. Walters has published two books, Common Christianity / Uncommon Commentary (2011), and C/IC Volume 2 (2017). His Philosophy of Teaching: "I believe the most important attribute that a teacher needs to possess is love and care for each student that walks into their classroom. I find that this ensures that each student is met where they are so they may be enabled to find success. As a teacher, I know that each student has a story that makes them unique and influences their learning style and behavior. I want my students to enjoy being at school and develop a love for learning. I want to continue to help lay the foundation for their future success both inside and outside the classroom." Angela Vorbau has been married for the past 14 years, to Josh, and they have three children: Andrew (30), Alyssa (27), Ryan (25); and Katie (21). She has been homeschooling her children for the past 7 years. She has also been teaching online ESL (English as a Second Language) for the past three years. Before Angela was married she was a Youth Director at a church running a youth group and a four day a week after school program. She received her Bachelors of Science in Early Childhood Education from Kaplan University in 2017. While Angela taught online for MCA last year, her family has moved from Pennsylvania to begin teaching students at MCA. Angela's Philosophy of Teaching: "I believe that education and everything that a child learns should revolve around Jesus. If a child is learning Math, English, Science and History it should be to better understand who the Creator of the universe is. Education should encourage children in their strengths and strengthen their weaknesses. When a child is being educated they should not only be educated in knowledge but learn and grow in the knowledge that God has created them with gifts and a purpose to use those gifts." Mitzi Ackerman has a degree in special education from Milligan College and has taught in both the traditional and special education classroom settings. She also has 16 years of experience in homeschooling, having graduated three of her five children who are successfully pursuing college education. She is married to a wonderful guy, Jerry Ackerman. Mitzi's Philosophy of Teaching: "My style of teaching is contextual. I love taking students deep into subject matter and attempting to spark a love of learning within them. My goal is to create thinkers, but also to get students to understand how each part of English— whether learning parts of speech to construct a good sentence or interacting with a piece of literature - relates to their life and future. I may not be able to get every student to love English and that's alright. Everyone is passionate about different things. I do hope to help every student understand English and see its benefit in their everyday lives." Debbie has been married to her husband, Eric, for 27 years and has spent the majority of the last 24 years raising and homeschooling her five children- Nicole, Renee, Jason, Bradie, and Corinne. She is also now a proud Gigi to her new grandson, Hudson Wrobel. She graduated from U.S. South Bend with a degree in Elementary Education. Debbie has loved getting to share her God-given passion for education with her own children and is excited to share it with her students in a classroom setting. In her spare time, Debbie enjoys reading, spending time outdoors, and watching sports with her family. Debbie's Philosophy of Teaching: "Each child is uniquely created by God with individual interests, strengths, and weaknesses. One of the greatest joys of homeschooling has been to allow each individual child to be taught and challenged according to his or her needs. I believe it is critically important to build relationships with students and learn how to best help each one succeed as a life-long learner. I am grateful to be teaching Bible and Science in 5th grade. Those subjects go together so beautifully as God is the creator of all we learn about in Science. I love helping students see how learning about God's design helps them be good stewards of His creation and also to use the knowledge we gain to bring glory to God and to love and serve others. I sincerely enjoy my time with the students and can't wait to explore the world God has created with a new group each year." A career sports journalist and media relations executive, Mr. Walters brings a life's wealth of communications experience and general knowledge to the MCA family.Mr. Walters was late to the faith, baptized in his 40s and has spent the past two decades coordinating and teaching Bible studies at East 91st Street Christian Church. He wrote a weekly Christian column for the Current newspapers (2006-2015, Carmel, Westfield, Noblesville, Fishers), and still blogs weekly about Christian encouragement, faith, and theology at CommonChristianity.blogspot.com. Mr. Walters has published two books, Common Christianity / Uncommon Commentary (2011), and C/IC Volume 2 (2017). His wife Pamela (aka "Mrs. Walters" to her MCA high school English students) convinced Mr. Walters to become a full-time high school substitute teacher prior to her retirement from Lawrence Central's English faculty. Mr. Walters spent four and a half years in that role at LC and McKenzie Career Center. When Pam retired from LC, a buddy at church convinced Mr. Walters to drive a school bus for Hamilton Southeastern Schools Transportation. That's where "Mr. Bob" has been the past few years, winning the HSE Transportation "Honor and Excellence Award" in 2015. Prior to all that, Mr. Walters' notable career stops included sports reporter and desk editor at the Indianapolis Star (motorsports features writer), Assistant Sports Information Director at Purdue University, Public relations director for the Indianapolis Colts and Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Valvoline Motorsports Account Executive at Fleishman Hillard Public Relations St. Louis (Indy Car and Nascar), and Vice President of Marketing and Communications at Galles Kraco Racing. Albuquerque (Indy Cars, drivers Al Unser Jr. and Bobby Rahal). Mr. Walters has a BA in Journalism from Franklin College of Indiana, hails from Kokomo, Ind., like Pam loves northern Michigan, and they live with their dog Kramer in Fishers. Mr. Walters fesses a lot with his yard. Bob's Philosophy of Teaching: "At the Last Supper, John 14:13-14, Jesus tells the Disciples, "I will do whatever you ask in my name, so that the Father may be glorified in the Son. You may ask me for anything in my name and I will do it." I remind students, "For what did Solomon ask?"Solomon asked for wisdom, and was blessed. We are blessed to pursue wisdom in an environment full of the Spirit, embracing the reality of God and the authority of the Bible. We are our Creator's favorite creation, created in His image, to be creative and in so doing to glorify Him and join Him in the love and joy of His Kingdom. That is the path of a creative, inquisitive, well-developed, and Godly mind ... and why we are at MCA." Jennifer Bott comes to Mission Christian Academy with a wealth of experience in education and a heart for children. Jennifer earned a Bachelor of Science in Education for 5-12th grade mathematics. When two of her daughters started at MCA, she ended up following them and was hired as the math teacher! Jennifer and her husband have been married for 21 years and they have a strong love for the Lord and Disney World! Jennifer has had a relationship with the Lord since she was a little girl and was brought up in the church by her parents, who are still two of her best friends and live down the street. Jen's Philosophy of Teaching: "Jennifer's philosophy of teaching starts with building a strong foundation. Just as her life is grounded in Christ and has a strong foundation, so is her way with her students. If their math foundation is not strong from the beginning, they will crumble eventually. Jennifer is "old fashioned" - all students are expected to practice math facts, show their work, use paper and pencil and HAVE FUN!! Jennifer's main goal is to have a relationship with the student and discover how they learn best to transfer her knowledge of mathematics to them in a way that makes sense." Hi, my name is Andy Waite. I'm married to an amazing lady named Jaime. My oldest son, Josiah, just graduated high school in May of 2021. My second son, Jed, is going to be a 6th grader at MCA. I serve as the Lead Pastor at White Rock Fellowship in Noblesville, IN. I grew up in a pastor/church planter family, and learned to serve the Lord at an early age helping in all kinds of ministry roles. Our family started churches and served in Iowa, Illinois, Colorado, California, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Indiana. I love the Lord and being on mission for Him. Andy's Philosophy of Teaching: "Jesus was a teacher. He was and is infinitely more than just a teacher, but Jesus was definitely a teacher. I love teaching. I believe learning is a journey, a process of discovery, not just a transfer of information. Teaching is about walking with people as the light bulb comes on and the truth takes shape and gains footing in their lives. I believe that it's imperative that the truth of who God is, and who we are in light of that reality, becomes the foundational cornerstone that we build our lives upon. I believe every student has the capacity to learn and grow in knowledge and wisdom. I'm excited for the adventure ahead and all that God will do in the lives of our students here at MCA!" Megan is married to her husband, Brian, of over 20 years and is a mother to two teen agers, Hayden and Bella, both of whom are continuing their journey at MCA this year. Megan's deepest calling was to be a stay-at-home mom until her children were both in school all day. That is when she began her own adventure into education, both in the public and private realm, eventually earning her Bachelor of Arts in Education Studies in Elementary Education (K-8). She is an avid reader and loves traveling with her family. She firmly believes that all things happen in God's timing and she could not be more excited to share her love of learning with the families of MCA! Megan's Philosophy of Teaching: "I believe that every child has a gift and a path. My desire is to help guide students along the journey God has in store for them. I believe instilling a love for learning is a vital role of any teacher. In this ever-changing world, I love that this truly is a Mission field here at MCA, which helps foster God's purpose and love for all who enter." Heather has been married to her husband, Doug, for 17 years, and they have one son Koen (11). They have been living in Noblesville since 2015. Heather has a Bachelor of Science in Music Business. She began her career in the events department at The Children's Museum of Indianapolis. After working in the hospitality industry for several years, she decided to spend more time at home with her son. During this point in her journey, she became passionate about early childhood education. She started teaching ESL classes, obtained her elementary teaching certification, and continued teaching preschool/prep-K. In 2021, she and Doug decided to go all in and homeschool Koen for 3rd grade. That fall, their son was diagnosed with mild Dyslexia. This motivated Heather to learn more about neurodivergent students and specialized teaching techniques. Heather has a deep love for Jesus and a passion for all things DIY, and loves spending time with her family (preferably outside). Jennifer is "old fashioned" - all students are expected to practice math facts, show their work, use paper and pencil and HAVE FUN!! Jennifer's main goal is to have a relationship with the student and discover how they learn best to transfer her knowledge of mathematics to them in a way that makes sense." Hi, my name is Andy Waite. I'm married to an amazing lady named Jaime. My oldest son, Josiah, just graduated high school in May of 2021. My second son, Jed, is going to be a 6th grader at MCA. I serve as the Lead Pastor at White Rock Fellowship in Noblesville, IN. I grew up in a pastor/church planter family, and learned to serve the Lord at an early age helping in all kinds of ministry roles. Our family started churches and served in Iowa, Illinois, Colorado, California, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Indiana. I love the Lord and being on mission for Him. Andy's Philosophy of Teaching: "Jesus was a teacher. He was and is infinitely more than just a teacher, but Jesus was definitely a teacher. I love teaching. I believe learning is a journey, a process of discovery, not just a transfer of information. Teaching is about walking with people as the light bulb comes on and the truth takes shape and gains footing in their lives. I believe that it's imperative that the truth of who God is, and who we are in light of that reality, becomes the foundational cornerstone that we build our lives upon. I believe every student has the capacity to learn and grow in knowledge and wisdom. I'm excited for the adventure ahead and all that God will do in the lives of our students here at MCA!" Jennifer Bott comes to Mission Christian Academy with a wealth of experience in education and a heart for children. Jennifer earned a Bachelor of Science in Education for 5-12th grade mathematics. When two of her daughters started at MCA, she ended up following them and was hired as the math teacher! Jennifer and her husband have been married for 21 years and they have a strong love for the Lord and Disney World! Jennifer has had a relationship with the Lord since she was a little girl and was brought up in the church by her parents, who are still two of her best friends and live down the street. Jen's Philosophy of Teaching: "Jennifer's philosophy of teaching starts with building a strong foundation. Just as her life is grounded in Christ and has a strong foundation, so is her way with her students. If their math foundation is not strong from the beginning, they will crumble eventually.
